Basic Youth Leader Resources and Information

From a webinar presented by Debbie Kolacki of PRC – Practical Resources for Churches
Introduction

To prepare for this webinar, I asked youth ministers, publishers, and church leaders what they thought were the best resources for those in youth ministry. I’m familiar with many of the resources myself and some of them are available at our PRC offices. The suggested resources come from a variety of theological backgrounds, so you may have to adapt them for your church’s theology. Some of the suggested books are out of print but are available from third party sellers on Amazon and other websites. There are so many resources out there for youth ministry, so I’m sure I’ve missed some good ones. Please feel free to email me with any suggested resources to add to this booklet the next time it’s revised. My email address is Debbie@prcli.org.

Basic and general resources – books

First, let’s talk about some basic and general resources for youth ministry. When I looked at the feedback I got from those involved in youth ministry and publishing, there were two books that were recommended by a number of people as essential reads. The first one was The Godbearing Life: The Art of Soul Tending for Youth Ministry by Kenda Creasy Dean and Ron Foster. It was first published in 1998 and a new edition of it came out in 2005. It emphasizes that youth ministers are called to be pastors to their students, not just recreation directors. It puts relationships before programs -- relationships with other people as well as a relationship with God. Youth leaders are called to minister to young people facing emptiness in their lives and offer them something different from the secular world. Kenda Creasy Dean has written a number of other books about youth ministry.

The other book which was highly recommended is quite different from The Godbearing Life but complements it nicely. It’s called Sustainable Youth Ministry: Why Most Youth Ministry Doesn’t Last and What Your Church Can Do About It and it’s written by Mark DeVries. In noting how often youth ministers burn out or move on, he gives practical advice on creating a sustainable youth ministry by providing tools and structures to lay a strong foundation, which isn’t built on a person or a current trend. He discusses creating a realistic job description for a youth pastor, tips for hiring a youth pastor, equipping youth pastors to build a strong volunteer team, navigating church politics, and more. DeVries has written many other books about youth ministry and is the founder of Ministry Architects, a consulting team that works with churches to build sustainable ministries. for children, youth, young adults, and families. He is also a cofounder of the Center for Youth Ministry Training.

In an article titled “Okay, You’re a Youth Minister. Now What?” Randall Curtis, Developer for Youth Ministries for the Episcopal Church in Arkansas, suggests that new youth ministers pray regularly for their youth and families; listen and observe for at least a year; be available to begin relationships with the youth, their families and the entire parish; put together a calendar of events; and read The Godbearing Life, Sustainable Youth Ministry, and Call on Me: A Prayer Book for Young People by Jenifer Gamber and Sharon Ely Pearson.

Here are some more recommended basic and general books about youth ministry.

- Family-Based Youth Ministry by Mark DeVries
- Contemplative Youth Ministry by Mark Yaconelli
- The Spirit and Culture of Youth Ministry by Roland Martinson
- Your First Two Years in Youth Ministry by Doug Fields
- Purpose Driven Youth Ministry by Doug Fields and Rick Warren
- Revisiting Relational Youth Ministry by Andrew Root
- Leaving Home with Faith: Nurturing the Spiritual Life of our Youth by Elizabeth Francis Caldwell
- Presence-Centered Youth Ministry by Mike King
- Jesus-Centered Youth Ministry by Rick Lawrence
- Missional Youth Ministry: Moving from Gathering Teenagers to Scattering Disciples by Brian Kirk and Jacob Thorne
- One Body: Integrating Teenagers into the Life of Your Church by Sam Halverson

- Not the Same Old, Done-it-before Youth Meetings by Tim Ferguson
- Thriving Youth Groups: Secrets for Growing Your Ministry by Jeanne Mayo
Basic and general resources – websites

There are many websites with resources for youth ministry. Here are a few that were recommended.

rethinkingyouthministry.com – This is one of my favorites, with an emphasis on using spiritual practices with youth. There are also instructions for setting up prayer stations.

lifelongfaith.com – This website has information about lifelong faith formation for all ages and generations. The Lifelong Faith Journal is a free download and there is a collection on adolescent faith formation with articles from various issues of the Lifelong Faith Journal.

youthworker.com – There are articles and resources and you can also subscribe to the printed magazine Youth Worker on this site.

studentministry.org – This website has a blog, videos, podcasts, and resources to purchase.

youthministrylinks.org – This website comes out of the Lutheran Church ELCA and has links to resources, trainings, speakers, and blogs.

fervr.net – This site has daily articles, reviews, and videos for Christian teens.

Pinterest – This is a great site to look for ideas for activities for youth ministry.

Here are some additional youth ministry related websites:

- downloadyouthministry.com
- youthmin.org
- youthpastor.com
- thesource4ym.com
- youthministry.com
Basic and general resources – publishers and denominations

Group/Simply Youth Ministry

Group was a magazine started in the days before computers to share ideas and activities related to youth ministry. Eventually Group Publishing came into being and now they publish not only youth resources, but also resources for children and adults. Simply Youth Ministry is now a part of Group Publishing. Some people love Group’s resources’ high-energy activities, but other people find their resources shallow. I heard from a number of youth leaders who said they have to adapt Group’s resources to fit their theology. Group leans more to the evangelical viewpoint than a mainline theology.

From the youth section of Group’s website:
- Small Group Curriculum
- Student Devotionals & Bibles
- Youth Leader Resources
- Youth Group Lessons And Sermons
- Youth Group Games & Media
- Simply Text: Youth Ministry Texting
- Simply Youth Group Curriculum
- Youth Ministry Conference

You can see from the list above that they publish a wide variety of youth resources. Group magazine is still available and they also offer the Simply Youth Ministry Conference each year.

Youthministry.com is a website run by Group. You can subscribe to have articles and “freebies” sent to your email address.
Youth Specialties

Youth Specialties offers the following on their website:

- Blog
- Resources
- Training seminars
- Conventions
- Free online communities
- Coaching
- Online job bank

Abingdon/Youth Ministry Partners

Abingdon Press and Youth Ministry Partners have connections to the United Methodist Church and offer a number of products for youth. Their products can be purchased through Cokesbury which sells United Methodist resources as well as resources from a number of other publishers.

Claim the Life is a six year comprehensive curriculum for 7th-12th grade students with a different theme for each year.

BL4Y, which stands for Bible Lessons for Youth, is a dated Sunday school curriculum designed for youth in grades 7-12 and covers the Bible in six years.

The new Groove Bible study series invites teens to learn the essentials of their faith, own their story, and engage the world in serving Jesus. Each of the 12 topical studies consists of four weekly sessions that are easy to lead and relate to life issues teens face.

Linc is a timely resource to help teens examine relevant faith and life issues using the latest music, movies, news, and current events. It’s downloadable or you can have it sent to you by e-mail.

Spice Rack is another new resource. It’s a downloadable Bible curriculum for middle school and high school students, with 15 individual studies that cover an entire year.
Sparkhouse

Sparkhouse, the ecumenical branch of the Lutheran ELCA publisher, offers youth resources.

Their re:form series of products includes the original re:form program of 40 lessons which uses creative and funny videos to tackle questions about the Bible, creeds, disciples, Jesus, other beliefs, and hot topics. Two of the questions from the program are “Who wrote the Bible, God or humans?” and “Can I be a Christian without going to church?”

Re:form Ancestors also uses fun videos to help youth get to know personalities from the Old and New Testaments.

Re:form Traditions has four sessions and is available in Lutheran, Methodist, and Reformed versions. It covers their history, beliefs, and practices to help youth discover how their faith tradition came to be.

All the re:form curriculums include DVDs, leader guides and student anti-workbooks.

Echo the Story helps youth experience the biblical narrative through storytelling, creative reflection, and dialogue. It’s available in both 12-session and 36-session versions and includes DVDs, leader guides, and student sketch journals.

Colaborate: Bible Study is based on problem-based learning which allows students to discover for themselves the richness of the Old and New Testaments.

Leader Resources

LeaderResources is a publisher with Episcopal roots and they offer resources for youth ministry, including some free downloads.

Making It Real & Relevant is a multimedia, topical Bible study for 7th-12th graders. It’s lectionary based and downloadable by annual subscription. A topical version recommended for younger youth is called God Talks!

Leader Resources also publishes the Journey to Adulthood (J2A), a complete youth ministry program of spiritual formation for 6th-12th grades. It encourages relational ministry and uses Bible study, prayer, rites of passage, outreach ministries and both serious and playful activities. J2A is a downloadable resource offered to churches and schools on an annual membership basis.
Denominational resources

John W. Vest in a blog post titled “What is Progressive Mainline Youth Ministry?” discusses youth resources; a friend of his suggested that most youth ministry books are written by authors from conservative, evangelical, or parachurch ministries. Vest lists some youth ministry authors from mainline denominations but then notes the diversity of viewpoints within mainline denominations and wonders which of the authors lean toward Progressive Christianity. It’s an interesting read.

Most denominations offer youth resources and many host youth events. The ELCA has their own youth web page. They also offer Faith Lens, a free, downloadable weekly Bible study for youth and young adults which links a current news story with scripture texts. The ELCA Youth Ministry Network seeks to provide opportunities for “spiritual renewal, continuing education and networking” for adults who work with youth.

The United Methodist Church has a website for ministry with young people and a Facebook youth ministry page. They also offer certification in youth ministry.

The Episcopal Church has a Youth Ministries page. My Faith, My Life: A Teen’s Guide to the Episcopal Church is written by Jenifer Gamber.

PYWA is the Presbyterian Youth Workers Association. The Presbyterian Church USA also offers a free resource for Middle School students called Just Eating; it focuses on the relationship between faith and food.

For Roman Catholics, the Center for Ministry Development is a subscription resource. It has youth sessions that can be adapted or edited to have a youth team take on specific tasks such as prayer, set up, etc.

Youth ministry training

I’ve already mentioned a few opportunities for youth ministry training including Group’s Simply Youth Ministry Conference, Youth Specialties’ National Youth Workers Convention and Team Training, as well as denominational events.

The Institute for Youth Ministry at Princeton offers youth ministry related degrees and a Certificate in Youth & Theology. They also offer Forums on Youth Ministry.

The Yale Youth Ministry Initiative offers a summer study program and a lunch and lecture series, among other youth ministry related programs. You can watch videos of lectures on youth ministry and view recorded livestreams of events.
Forma, an association and community of Christian educators and formation professionals in the Episcopal Church offers a Certificate in Youth and Family Ministry.

The Center for Youth Ministry Training offers a Master of Arts in Youth Ministry.

Faith Forward brings together children’s and youth ministry leaders to “re-imagine children’s and youth ministry through theology, relationship, and practice.”

Youth Leader Training on the Go written by Doug Fields offers youth leader training without in-person meetings. It includes both audio training sessions and training sessions on CD that can be emailed.

Youth culture research and information

!Soul Searching book cover
!Souls in Transition book cover
!Almost Christian book cover

Soul Searching by Christian Smith and Melina Lundquist Denton, Souls in Transition by Christian Smith and Patricia Snell, and Almost Christian by Kenda Creasy Dean are three books which came out of the National Study of Youth and Religion directed by Christian Smith which was “designed to enhance our understanding of the religious lives of American youth from adolescence into young adulthood.” Teenagers were followed from high school through college and into young adulthood. The first two books report on the data collected from the first six years of the study. The third book takes the data and looks at it through a theological lens. There is also a Soul Searching documentary DVD which features interviews with the books’ authors, youth pastors, and teenagers from around the country.

The Soul of Adolescence: In Their Own Words by Patricia Lyons offers “first-person accounts of adolescent ethics, spirituality, conscience, and struggles with despair.” Hurt 2.0: Inside the World of Today’s Teenagers (Youth, Family, and Culture) by Chap Clark uses “solid research and years of insightful observation” to offer a look into the contemporary adolescent experience.
The Center for Parent/Youth Understanding offers a website to help parents, youth workers, educators, pastors and others understand and reach today’s youth culture.

The Merchants of Cool DVD was produced by Frontline and looks at today's teenagers who are the object of obsessive focus by corporate America. This DVD explores the culture of today's teenagers and how they view themselves and their parents.

Youth ministry in small churches

If you're in a small church, here are three books about young ministry in small churches:

- Thriving Youth Ministry in Smaller Churches: Secrets for Cultivating a Dynamic Youth Ministry by Rick Chromey and Stephanie Caro
- Single Digit Youth Groups: Working With Fewer Than Ten Teens by Marcey Balcomb

Middle school youth groups

Three books that deal specifically with middle school ministry are:

- Middle School Ministry: A Comprehensive Guide to Working with Early Adolescents by Mark Oestreicher and Scott Rubin
- Faith-Forming Junior High Ministry: Beyond Pizza 101 by Drew A. Dyson
- Junior High Ministry by Wayne Rice –It’s from 1998 but still recommended by those in youth ministry.

Spiritual practices, retreats, devotionals, and worship

Some resources related to spiritual practices and youth include:

- Soul Tending: Life Forming Practices for Older Youth and Young Adults by Beverly Burton and Drew Dyson
- Holy Things for Youth Ministry: 13 Practical Sessions by Brian Hardesty-Crouch
- Go Deep: Spiritual Practices for Youth Ministry by Doris E. Kizinna
- Words for the Journey: Letters to Our Teenagers about Life and Faith by Martin B. Copenhaver and Anthony B. Robinson

Two books about retreats are:

- Ready-to-Go Retreats & Lock-Ins by Beth Miller
• Go Deeper Retreats: 12 Life-Changing Weekends for Youth Ministry by Group Publishing

There are many devotionals for youth, both hard copies and online. Here’s one book and a website.

• The Barefoot Way: A Faith Guide for Youth, Young Adults, and the People Who Walk with Them by Dori Grinenko Baker
• D365 Devotionals 365 Days a Year

Some worship resources to check out include:

• Abingdon publishes a series called Worship Feast relating to worship with youth.
• Book, Bath, Table, and Time: Christian Worship as Source and Resource for Youth Ministry by Fred P. Edie

Mission and service projects

Your denomination may offer opportunities for youth to participate in mission and service projects. Many outside organizations also sponsor mission trip, such as these:

• Group
• Youth Works
• Adventures in Missions
• Youth with a Mission

World Vision’s 30 Hour Famine invites youth to fast together for 30 hours to raise funds to fight hunger. A free kit includes resources to educate and motivate students to fight hunger including an Event Guide, fundraising packets for each student, educational videos, and more.

Catholic Relief Services has a 24 hour fast called Food Fast which is also a lock-in event but doesn’t have as many resources as the World Vision 30 Hour Famine.

Some books related to mission and service are:

• Unbound: The Transformative Power of Youth Mission Trips by Jann Treadwell
• Mission Trips That Matter by Don C. Richter
• Ready-to-Go Devotions for Mission and Service by Mark Ray
• Ready-to-Go Missions by Jason B. Schultz
• Ready-to-Go Service Projects by Ann Saylor
• Serving with Eyes Wide Open: Doing Short-Term Missions with Cultural Intelligence by David A. Livermore
• Serving from the Heart for Youth Leader’s Guide and Student Book by Yvonne Gentiles and Carol Cartmill – This is actually a study which helps youth discover their spiritual gifts and how they can use them in service.

Bibles and Bible studies

There are a number of teen Bibles available in various translations. Some of these are:

- The CEB Student Bible
- The Guidebook: The NRSV Student Bible
- NIV Teen Study Bible
- NIV Teen Devotional Bible
- Live Holy Bible New Living Translation
- Extreme Faith Bible CEV

Zondervan publishes The Story, Teen Curriculum which uses DVDs to cover the Bible in 31 sessions.

Through the Bible in 12 Weeks from Group Publishing: 12 Lessons to Help Students Navigate the Big Picture by Jenny Baker is an experiential study of the Bible.

Enter the Story: 7 Experiences to Unlock the Bible for Your Students by Michael Novelli uses hands-on experiences to help students engage in and learn from the Bible.

Pocket Guide to the Bible: A Little Book About the Big Book by Jason Boyett uses humor to teach basics about the Bible.

What Did Jesus DO All day?: Discovering the Teen Jesus by Felicia Silcox explores what life was like back in the time of Jesus. There are discussion questions at the end of each chapter.

Confirmation

Most churches use their denomination’s confirmation curriculum, although there are a few nondenominational curriculums available.

One resource for talking about confirmation in general is the book Signed, Sealed, Delivered: Theologies of Confirmation for the 21st Century by Sharon Ely Pearson. Although it’s written from an Episcopal perspective, much of the information would be of interest to those in other denominations, such as the history of confirmation and the varying opinions on whether confirmation is still meaningful today.
“The Confirmation Project seeks to learn the extent to which confirmation and equivalent practices in five Protestant denominations in North America are effective for strengthening discipleship in youth. These denominations include the African Methodist Episcopal Church, the Episcopal Church, the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, the Presbyterian Church in the USA, and the United Methodist Church.”

Some information from the project is available now and there are webinars and podcasts by researchers on the website. You can sign up to be notified of additional reports, publications, or conferences.

Counseling and mentoring

Hungry Souls, Holy Companions: Mentoring a New Generation of Christians by Patricia Hendricks gives advice on how to be a spiritual companion to young people and offers information on the spiritual needs of post-millennial young adults.

The Youth Worker's Guide to Helping Teenagers in Crisis by Rich Van Pelt and Jim Hancock suggests ways to respond to crisis, forge preventive partnerships with parents, schools, and students, and bring healing when damage is done.
Group's Emergency Response Handbook for Youth Ministry focuses on how to respond to twelves emergencies such as suicide, addictions, and destructive behavior.

Games and icebreakers

Group publishes a number of books about games. Two of them are On the Spot, No-Prep Games for Youth Ministry and Best-Ever Games for Youth Ministry by Les Christie.

Some of the youth ministry websites mentioned earlier include games along with other activities. The EGADideas website offers various activities and plenty of ideas for indoor and outdoor games. The Source for Youth Ministry offers games and icebreakers. There’s also information about leading games and a special search tool which lets you select options for the type of game you’re looking for.

Movies, videos and drama

The Source for Youth Ministry website has a page with a list of “25 Films You Can Actually Show at Youth Group (that Teenagers Might Actually Enjoy.)” Many of the movies listed also have lessons and discussion questions using a scene from the movie.

Joel Mayward’s website has a list called “Top Youth Ministry Movies You Can Show To Your Youth Group.” Mayward is also the author of Jesus Goes to the Movies: The Youth Ministry Film Guide which includes 50 film discussion guides. He also writes film reviews and essays and offers film-related resources on Cinemayward.com.

GodTube.com has Christian videos including music, inspirational, comedy, cute and ministry videos.

The Skit Guys provide Christian videos, church skits, plays, drama scripts, and other quality Christian church media for various prices.
Please consider making a donation on our website so that we can continue to offer our booklets free of charge.
